Leadership program

Benefits of the referral program

Recurring Referral Rewards

Leaders earn rewards from every automatic reinvestment made by their referrals — not just from the initial contribution.

Shared Success

Leaders work together rather than compete with one another.

Every new participant strengthens the entire network.

Front-Running doesn't pay

Early participation is rewarded without becoming the dominant factor in long-term returns.

The mathematical model preserves attractive earning potential even for participants who join later.

Faster Community Growth, More Rewards

As the community grows faster, reinvestments occur more frequently, generating recurring rewards for Leaders.

Leader Rewards

Leaders earn rewards from both the initial contribution and every automatic reinvestment made by participants within their referral network (Levels 1–3).

Leadership is optional — but it can multiply your rewards several times over.

Let's look at an example of a single Leader's earning potential.

Assume a Leader directly recruits 100 participants (Level 1). Those participants recruit 200 participants at Level 2, who then recruit another 300 participants at Level 3.

Assume the game reaches a total of 10,000 participants.

With an initial contribution of $100 per game position, the Leader earns approximately $14,300 in referral rewards from the initial contributions and all future automatic reinvestments across three referral levels.

Beads game

Express game

✓ No ongoing activity required.

Join once and continue receiving payouts automatically through the game's mechanics.

✓ Referrals are optional.

Players can earn without inviting anyone, while referrals significantly increase their rewards.

✓ Simple and transparent mechanics.

The game is built around three easy-to-understand concepts: payout distribution, referral rewards, automatic reinvestment.

✓ Smaller but more frequent payouts.

Participants receive rewards regularly, maintaining engagement and allowing them to multiply their income at any time by building a referral network

✗ Continuous manual management is required.

Players must constantly monitor level completion and upgrade in time to avoid being overtaken or having their progress frozen.

✗ Personal referrals are essential.

Without actively recruiting new participants, earning potential is severely limited.

✗ Complex game mechanics.

Multiple matrices, spillovers, freezes, overtaking, cycles, recycles, and other mechanics make the system difficult to understand.

✓ Larger but less frequent payouts.

Achieving them requires continuous work with referrals. If referrals become inactive, earning opportunities decline accordingly.
